(54) RECORDING DISK HOLDER

(57) Abstract:

PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To provide a recording disk holder that houses a recording disk having recording faces at its both sides safely without giving damages.

SOLUTION: In this recording disk holder, a guide part 24 is formed with a nonwoven fabric sheet 20 extended from the inside of a pocket P to the outside of the pocket P and turned up to cover the edge 16a of a housing port Ph of the pocket P. With the guide part 24 formed in a way as mentioned above, a CD can be slid on the guide part 24 on putting into and taking out of the pocket P and therefore, putting-in and taking-out become easy. In the case where the CD has recording faces at its both sides, damages can be prevented on putting into and taking out of the pocket P because the recording faces come into contact only with the nonwoven fabric.
